Grant's Close Call. Gen. Grant's throat trouble began has summer while he was the guest of George ing all the real estate and property owned W. Childs, at Long Branch. The General by him and ex-Senator Ferry in the State, remarked one day that his throat was sore except the E. P. Ferry Lumber Company's and said it had been so for several days, property at Montague, all valued at $100. Aver since he ate a peach. Dr. Dacostas 000, over to the creditors for that amount. of Philadelphia, was a visitor at the Branch Other claims still unpaid and unsecured and was call to examine the General's throat. He at once advised Gen. Grant to consult his family physician, but at the same time did not tell him that the trouble was a clear case of epithelioma Ger. Grant returned to New York early in October, and after an examination by Dr. President Cleveland's sister is about to lis, the noted specialist in throat diseases.
